Under Merlin , True First Name , a Russian nuclear scientist who had earlier defected to the United States, posed as an unemployed and greedy scientist willing to sell nuclear designs to the highest bidder. Under CIA orders, True First Name approached Iranian officials in Vienna, and turned over the nuclear blueprints. Within days, the National Security Agency, which secretly eavesdrops on all international airline reservations systems, watched as an Iranian official in Vienna abruptly left Austria and returned home to Iran. The CIA later learned from another source that the blueprints were being kept in a highly secure place in the Iranian facility where scientists are working on a nuclear weapon.

CIA officers involved in the operation have come to the author to discuss the case because they now feel enormous guilt for a program that they believe has aided Iran's nuclear program. This book will provide the full details of Merlin , and will explain how and why the CIA mounted such a dangerous operation.
